Health Law

rmrf.com

We provide practical advice to the healthcare sector on matters spanning employment law, to construction projects, to specialized legislation, and all points in between. Our clients range from government agencies to private health care providers and health care facilities.

Understanding the stakes

In the world of healthcare, you are often required to make decisions that have tremendous impact on the lives of patients and clients. You understand the stakes at play day in and day out. We understand these stakes too. For decades, we have provided advice to a number of key players in healthcare, including:

- Government agencies
- Regional health authorities
- Provincial boards
- Voluntary and private healthcare providers, both for-profit and not-for-profit
- Professional Associations and Professional Regulatory Organizations
- Acute care facilities
- Continuing care facilities
- Supportive housing, and
- Other related facilities

> As a healthcare organization you face many of the same challenges as any organization. But there's no denying the healthcare context is unique. Our clients rely on us to provide advice that is not only sound and timely, but also sensitive to this special context.
