

We are trusted advisors to over 150 municipalities and municipal institutions throughout Alberta.

Understanding your world

Municipalities and municipal institutions face countless challenges every day. You must constantly consider the different needs and interests of your stakeholders.

For over 50 years, municipalities and municipal institutions have trusted Reynolds Mirth as their legal counsel. We take pride in serving the communities and institutions that are the heartbeat of our province.

Our clients

We work with over 150 municipalities and municipal institutions in Alberta.

These include cities, towns, counties, municipal districts, specialized municipalities, Métis settlements, villages and summer villages. We also represent related institutions and entities including water services commissions, waste commissions, and utility authorities.

Modern municipalities are more than local governments. They are sophisticated public corporations navigating the same challenges faced by any corporation, all while also working within a complex framework of statutory and regulatory requirements.

Our scope

Reynolds Mirth has decades of experience and insight into all areas of municipal law. Our experience includes:

- Planning and development
- Annexations, expropriations and amalgamations
- Contract drafting and review
- Construction and partnerships, including P3s
- Corporate/Commercial matters
- Privacy law, including matters related to the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA)
- Constitutional law matters and human rights
- Interpretation of the Municipal Government Act
- Hearings before administrative tribunals, including the Municipal Government Board, Subdivision and Development Appeal Boards, and Assessment Review Boards
- Tax assessment, including linear taxes
- Bylaw drafting and review
