Residential Real Estate

rmrf.com

We excel in providing timely, skillful, and cost-effective advice related to residential real estate.

Protecting your interests

When you buy, sell, or build a home, having effective legal advice is essential. From single-family dwellings to condominiums, the lawyers in our real estate group regularly provide advice and handle transactions on a wide range of residential real estate issues.

We can help you with:

- Residential conveyancing including buying or selling a home
- Issues related to custom-made homes
- Disputes respecting residential real estate

Our experience

Reynolds Mirth's Residential Real Estate practice is complemented by our work in Condominium Law, Commercial Real Estate & Development and Lending and Security Placement.

We have the depth and experience to assist you. Please contact us for more information.
